THE PROBLEM

Of Telegraphing From Railway Trains Has Been Solved.

Every Train Will Be in Constant Communication With the Next Station Ahead or When Desired With the Dispatcher or Any Public Telegraph Station.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—The most difficult problem of railroad operation—how to communicate by telegraph with a moving train anywhere on the line—has been solved by a young Chicago inventor, Edison, who has been experimenting with induction currents, has been fairly beaten on his own chosen ground.

George V. Trott, a former telegraph operator, has devised a system which will shortly be put in operation on the Pennsylvania line by which every train on the line is in constant communication with the station next ahead and, when desired, with the train dispatcher or any public telegraph station.

Briefly, every train on a road equipped with the Trott system, would at all times be on a "loop" circuit, extending to the next telegraph station ahead, and to send messages farther or receive them from other stations, the operator at the proper station would only have to "cut in" by means of a "jack spring" on one of the regular telegraph wires.

Mr. Trott's device is exclusively mechanical. It involves no new or untried principles, and will require no more power to operate it than the ordinary duplex cell battery at the regular telegraph station.

The device which railway engineers declare will revolutionize railway service is an adaptation of the street railway trolley or third rail of the elevated railways.

Two insulated metallic tracks are laid between and parallel to the traction rails. They are not connected and at intervals equal in length to the circuit it is desired to establish are discontinuous and separated by a non-conducting cushion. A trolley mechanism, consisting of three pairs of wheels, connected in multiple by "knuckle" joints and hinged to the footboard of the engine, runs under the tender on the inner rails. The contact of the metallic wheels with the metallic rails closes the circuit, as the wheels are joined by a metallic framework. Insulated wires conduct the current into the engine cab and by means of the bell cord into any part of the train, where there is an instrument.

Trott is a man of frail form and poor health. He is 31 years old. Before his health failed he was an operator in Chicago, in Boston, where he was born, and in New York. He later worked for the Santa Fe as a local train dispatcher. He now resides in Chicago. He recently wrote to the Pennsylvania railway officials and was invited to send them his plans and specifications. Their engineers and electricians were delighted and promised to give the system a practical trial as soon as possible.

GEN. BANDERAS,

With 12,000 Men, Marches the Entire Length of Cuba—The Second Invasion of the West Was Effected With Little Difficulty.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The Journal and Advertiser says: The sensational march of the Cubans under Maximo Gomez and Antonio Maceo, the entire length of the island in Martinez Campos' time, has just been duplicated by Quintin Banderas.

This negro war captain, than whom no Cuban of the colored race, excepting Maceo, perhaps, has won greater honors in the present struggle for independence, led 12,000 men from the eastern end of the island, where the patriots in arms are strongest, to the western end, where, since Antonio Maceo's death, through the treachery of his body physician, Dr. Zertucha, the Cuban cause has not prospered so well.

These 12,000 men represented all branches of the Cuban army service. They penetrated into the provinces of Matanzas, Havana and Pinar del Rio, strengthening the existing forces in each of those provinces to such an extent that the coming winter campaign there may be expected to be even as disastrous for the Spanish arms as in the time of the redoubtable Maceo.

The news of the brilliant achievement was brought to the Journal and Advertiser by the mail from Havana in an autograph letter from Banderas himself. In it he requests the publication of the proclamation that he issued on taking charge of the department.

Banderas says that the second invasion of the west was made in compliance with plans that were completed by Maximo Gomez, the general-in-chief, in June last, and that the march was effected with little or no trouble or molestation from the Spanish troops.

"We crossed their lines again and again," he says, "but there was no fight in them and we had no battles. Our men behaved nobly in the face of constantly possible attacks by larger forces. There was no faltering at any time, and once more I have been able to admire the heroism of our soldiers who have fought, are fighting and will ever fight. I am convinced, until the independence of Cuba shall have been attained, they will fight."

The proclamation intimates that there have been wholesale desertions from the Spanish army in Havana province into the Cuban service, saying:

"In taking command of this province I send greeting to all its forces, but more especially to the brave Spanish soldiers of Pizarro cavalry regiment whom I reviewed Sunday, and those who, filled with sympathy for an oppressed people fighting for their liberty, have come over to our files, in this way giving most direct lie to those who say that the Spanish soldier exists only to serve as food for the cannon and for the purpose of affording means to their officers to get titles and decorations."

The rest of the proclamation is directed "to the men of my race."

A SETTLEMENT

Of the Great Miners' Strike Is Believed to Be Close at Hand.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 31.—A prominent coal operator in the Pittsburgh district said Monday night that the miners' strike would probably be settled, temporarily at least, within the next 48 hours. The operators have been quietly negotiating with the miners' officers since the adjournment of the Pittsburgh conference, and a settlement is believed to be close at hand. The operators offered to pay the men 64 cents a ton, pending arbitration, if the miners would consent to such an arrangement, with the distinct understanding that the arbitrators could not fix a price below 62 cents or above 69 cents. President Rathford made a counter proposition for arbitration, stipulating that the men be paid 69 cents a ton, five cents of that price to be turned over to a trustee or trustees and to be held until the arbitration is completed and then paid to the miners if the rate is fixed at 69 cents. If the rate is fixed below that figure then a portion of the amount held by the trustees is to be given to the miners and the other rebated to the operators. A telegram was received here Monday from President Rathford with respect to the operators' proposition, but it was somewhat blind, and the operators were unable to tell whether he accepted the proposition or not. It is believed, however, that he will consent to arbitration, and it is expected that work at the mines will be resumed before the close of the week.

The strike situation at Jellico. KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 31.—The strike situation at Jellico looks more serious Monday night and Tuesday trouble is feared. At the conference of miners and operators Monday morning the miners refused to listen to anything lower than the rate of last year and the conference ended abruptly. The miners are positive that the mines shall not be opened by non-union men and the operators say they will open them anyhow.

Afridis Close the Kohal Pass. PESHAWUR, Aug. 31.—A strong force of Afridis, it is just announced, has closed the Kohal pass, and therefore the proposed advance of a column of British troops through that pass has been countermanded. With the Khyber and Kohal passes in the hands of the enemy, the gravity of the situation has increased.

We are authorized to announce

JOHN W. BAKER

As an Independent Republican candidate for Sheriff of Rockcastle county to be voted for at November election, 1897.

LIVINGTON, KY., Aug. 31, '97

Once more I appeal to the people not to be deceived. I saw in last week's issue of the REPUBLICAN a letter written by a number of gentlemen, telling of what wonderful good officers we have had in the last year. I would be glad to have known some of their wonderfulness for good. I would like to know why those wonderful officers did not help to bring an officer before the grand jury. Even the Judge himself sat there and detained him when there was a writ served on him, and allowed him to get away. If that is what those gentlemen call good, I do not want to, or will not vote for them. You can call us bolters if you please, but I deem it a great pleasure to be called a bolter against evil. Hurrah for the boy we all know so well, and one that our county should be proud of—Little Dick.

H. W. RICE.

Editor of SIGNAL:

In answer to an article which appeared in the "The Republican" of last week in regard to the conduct of some of the County Officials. We wish to differ from those whose names follow that article:

If necessary, it can be proven by reputable Republican citizens that some of said officials have been guilty of official and general conduct, not only unworthy of their official positions, but of the dignity and morality expected of the humblest private citizen:

GOOCHLAND, KY., Aug. 31, '97.
Mr. Editor:—We may not be worthy of the confidence of good people, but we know some things ourselves. We have eyes with which we see; we have ears with which we hear. We cannot believe the men who signed that article in the Republican, believed what they said. If necessary, we can prove to any sensible man that the general conduct of one of our county officials has not been good. But upon the contrary, we can show you that it has been very bad. Neither do we believe that his official conduct has been good. As to his honesty, many Republicans know about that, for they have heard him testify. Our spirit is grieved to see such an article in the Republican for it only makes the breach in the Republican party wider and deeper more certain. We want to say that we intend to vote for Judge Colyer if he will only carry his own load, but just as certain as he goes to work for the whole ticket we will drop him. We know others like us. We believe every man's personal ability should merit office for him; therefore let every man go through this fight for himself. We are for Dick Williams because he is an honest man—because he is a sober man and because we believe he would look to the best interest of the county. We think he would treat the rich and poor alike and administer the home law to the humblest and poorest man that he would to the richest. Now brother Republicans let us consider what we have at stake and who is before us and let us, in view of these facts, vote the convictions of our hearts.

Yours truly,

L. J. SCOTT,
H. P. ALLEN.

MT. VERNON, KY., Aug. 30, '97.
Editor SIGNAL:—As there has been much said in the columns of the SIGNAL, of late, in reference to bolters and voting, I beg leave to submit a few thoughts concerning same. I wish to ask in the first place, what is the object of our voting, and what are our duties as voters? We have the right under our form of government to claim protection for our person, lives, liberty and our property, and we have to look almost entirely to our officers to guarantee this protection, hence the importance of selecting sober, honorable and discreet men to fill the various positions as officials.

Now, wherever a right exists a corresponding duty also exists. Then, as we, the voters, are entirely responsible for the kind of men we elect, we cannot be too careful when we cast our ballot, for it is one of the highest privileges that belong to an American citizen, besides one of the most important and sacred duties that we are called upon to perform. Should we suffer party affiliations to guide us in this matter, or should we fear being called a bolter. I emphatically say no. It is our duty to support our party, provided we have the proper men before us, but otherwise it is not, nor neither is one a bolter simply because he fails to support men who, perhaps, secured their nomination through corrupt means. A bolter is one who has not the welfare of his country at heart, but simply to get revenge for some real or imaginary wrong or for some selfish motive. Therefore we are not bolters in the proper sense of the term, but citizens who wish to discharge their duty.

Now, in conclusion, let me urge every voter—regardless of party ties or the party lash—to study well his duty before he casts his ballot, and vote for the best men and measures, and thereby casting a vote that he will not be ashamed for his children and neighbors to know, and at the same time be building up his country—religiously, morally and socially.

A VOTER.

"AS IF BY MAGIC."

Miss Davis's Strong Endorsement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She Wishes That Every Afflicted One Could Try This Remedy.

From the News, Hamilton, Ohio.
From no one in this city has Dr. Williams' Pink Pills received more unstinted praise than from Miss Davis, of No. 16, North B Street, Hamilton, Ohio. Seldom one hears of such favorable results from the use of medicine, as was effected in the case in question.

Miss Davis, who is a modest and unassuming, but most charming little lady, is prompted to make a public statement of her case, solely as an act of charity to others who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted, and no one among Miss Davis's large circle of friends and acquaintances could possibly question the lady's motive in making such a statement. Miss Davis has resided in this city for years and is connected with the Traber family, one of the oldest and most honored in Butler county.

Speaking to a News representative, Miss Davis said:

"Although I have resided in Hamilton for quite a while, I am originally a native of Pennsylvania, and it was while on a visit in Philadelphia a number of years ago, that I suffered a very severe attack of diphtheria, it being in the most malignant form. Subsequently, my whole system became affected in sympathy, and it was not until only a short time until I became so debilitated and run down that I had given up nearly all hope of recovery. I tried many remedies and spent much money in an effort to regain my health, but to no avail.

"One day in looking over a Philadelphia paper, my attention was attracted to the Pink Pills advertisement, and I resolved to give it a trial. Not anticipating any great result, you can imagine my great surprise and pleasure to soon notice beneficial results. The old numb feeling in my limbs, for I had also received a partial stroke of paralysis, gradually disappeared, as if by magic—and my whole system was soon on the mend. In fact, at the very outset the medicine worked a wonderful change in my whole body and thanks to the efficacy of the little Pink Pills, I am a greatly improved woman to-day. I only wish that everyone afflicted could try this remedy, for I feel certain that a speedy cure would be the inevitable result.

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppression, irregularities and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at six cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

A New Departure.

"I know it is unprecedented, my dear," said the popular minister to his wife, with a look of firm determination upon his face. "I know the public will consider me a sensational, unorthodox innovator, but something must be done to fill the church and bring me into notice."

"But," said his wife, "consider what an abnormal, extraordinary and unparalleled thing it is you propose. I have never been in favor of your discussing in the pulpit subjects that will startle and invite criticism from the congregation and public. Why not confine yourself, as other preachers do, to matters that they naturally expect from a minister of the gospel?"

"They no longer attract attention," said the minister. "The people now demand something new and electrifying, and I think I have hit upon a plan of discourse that will create a furore in the religious world. I have decided to abandon the old beaten paths and give them something new Sunday that will come like a thunder clap upon the congregation."

"Very well," said his wife, with a sigh of resignation, "if you have fully determined to take a text from the Bible I will try no longer to dissuade you."—Chicago Tribune.

Oak Lowery, Ala., writes: Have used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine in my family for 10 years, with good results. I think it is stronger than "Zellin's" or "Black Draught."

Cramps Are caused by an irritation of the nerves. They are local spasms, frequently the result of uterine disease, and are pinching, gnawing and contractive pains in the region of the stomach extending to the back and chest. They are often the symptom and effect of indigestion. Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine should be used to stimulate the digestive organs and Dr. Simmons' Squaw Vine Wine to give immediate relief and permanent cure.

After the old proprietors of the article now called "Black Draught" were by the United States Court enjoined from using the name constituting our trade name—create, it is not equity require that they stand on their own trade name and merits (if any) of their article, and not seek to appropriate the trade for our article called "Black Draught" by publishing the picture of another Dr. Simmons on their wrapper and labeling it as "Black Draught" that article "Black Draught" was established in 1840, that being the year in which our article was established, and no one ever heard of "Black Draught" till after 1870. Why do they advertise that falsehood and associate the name of Dr. Simmons (having the picture of Dr. M. A. Simmons on it) by their publication of the picture of another Dr. Simmons, if not done to unfairly appropriate our trade? Is not the motive apparent?

Profr. & Riley
San Antonio, Tex., says: My wife has used Dr. M. A. Simmons Liver Medicine many years for sick headache and never fails to buy a package when she expects to travel. It saves one from taking injurious drugs. For 15 years it has been a necessary medicine in my house.

Caution. Don't be fooled into taking cheap worthless stuff. If the merchant tells you "it is just the same" as M. A. S. L. M., you may know that he is trying to make you cheap stuff to make a big profit by palming off on you a wholly different article.

EXTRAVAGANT MANAGEMENT.

Republican Government Is Always Very Costly.

The result of republican extravagance has manifested itself in unmistakable form thus early in the life of the McKinley administration. July was the first month of the new fiscal year, and Secretary Gage's treasury balance shows a deficit of $11,000,000. When the enormous anticipatory imports to escape the duties of the Dingley bill are taken into account, together with the unusually heavy payments into the treasury by the brewers to save the rebate on beer stamps, the conclusion is inevitable that the deficit is due to the reckless use of public funds.

The amount paid out of the treasury in July exceeded by $8,000,000 the amount paid out during July of last year. This excess represents the difference between republican government and democratic government. In other words, republican government costs $8,000,000 more a month than democratic government.

One of the items of extra cost was contained in the pension account. Pension payments for the month of July aggregated nearly $15,000,000, almost $2,000,000 in excess of the amount paid in pensions during the corresponding month last year. When the pension lists reached the $30,000,000 mark in the early part of Grant's second administration he apologized for the amount and predicted that from that year on the pension account would decrease. A few years afterward Samuel J. Randall as chairman of the appropriations committee submitted a bill to the house carrying less than $40,000,000 in pensions and explained that the committee believed the high-water mark in pensions had been reached. Instead of decreasing, the amount paid in pensions every year since has increased, and this year the prodigious sum of $141,000,000 was appropriated by the republican congress. This exceeds the total cost of any of the various huge standing armies of war-torn Europe. It is more than enough to equip and put in the field an army strong enough to successfully cope with any of the finely-organized and terrible war engines of Europe on land or sea. The absurdity of such extravagance is too obvious to require analysis. Where or when it will stop no man pretends to know. Certainly there is no hope of checking it as long as the republicans hold the purse strings.

National gratitude has its limits. Men who were incapacitated for self-support in saving the union deserve national aid. This doctrine of Solon has the endorsement of modern enlightenment. But it is now more than 30 years since the civil war closed. Even if all of the more than 2,000,000 men who fought for the union were alive and entitled to pensions, under a strict and honest interpretation the amount would not be much greater than it now is. Indeed, it probably would not be as large if rigid honesty were applied to the question of pensions. The laws have been so loosely and dishonestly administered that the cost of pensions swells when there should be a steady decrease.—St. Louis Republic.

DEFICIT AND PROSPERITY.

Protectionists Have Been Given the Lie by Events.

The republican organs positively assured us some months ago that we could not hope for any prosperity so long as there was a deficit in the treasury. There is nothing in this wide world, said they, in effect, that will take the starch out of business like a deficit. The merchant might as well expect a rush of trade with a roaring lion standing in his front doors as to hope to dodge the sheriff when there is a deficit in the federal revenues. The catalogue of political ills is a long one, but a deficit is the boss ill and as good as any two among the toughest of the lot. The extra session of congress was called to wipe out the deficit and save the country, and yet we are now in the enjoyment of a high degree of prosperity while the deficit continues to transact its pernicious business at the old stand. Of course, there are those who say that the prosperity we are now enjoying is all on paper, but they are of the breed called "calamity howlers." They have an interest of one kind or another in hard times; the harder the better. They don't want prosperity themselves and they don't want anybody else to have any, and when there are no hard times they try to deceive themselves and others by howling that the times are simply awful. They are not to be considered. The fact is that we have prosperity in abundance, and in spite of the terrible deficit. Nothing is clearer than that the protectionist organs shamefully misrepresented the deficit, for we are a prosperous and happy people with the deficit still on deck.

If the protectionists are not a little more careful about their utterances they may run the risk of getting popular credit for saying what is not so.—Binghamton (N. Y.) Leader.

The tariff "for revenue" does not seem to be filling requirements. The receipts from customs under the new law continue small, averaging about $200,000 a day, while it will take an average of $500,000 a day to wipe out the deficit. The whole of the government revenue collected for this month amounts to about $10,000,000, while the expenditures are over $18,000,000. Prosperity cannot stand such inequality between expenditure and income very long.—Indianapolis News.

—We are told in one breath by the republican organs that the effect of the Dingley tariff will be to restrict importations, and thus insure a favorable balance of trade, and in the next breath that the Dingley tariff will also increase the revenues and keep the treasury full of gold. Unless there shall be large importations there cannot be a large revenue collected from importations. If the Dingley law shall stop importations it will stop revenue.—Philadelphia Record.

WAVES OF PROSPERITY.

Protection Works on the Swell and Fall Principle.

Webster's definition of a wave may be summed up in the term oscillation or instability. Sir Isaac Newton defines a wave as irregularity or unevenness of surface. In the natural world a wave always presupposes an evanescent climax, to be followed immediately by an anticlimax or depression.

Thus we have by their own showing the estimate which the blatant heralds of artificial prosperity place upon their own product. These partisan John the Baptists, going up and down the land telling the people to make way for prosperity, have at least the virtue of ingenueness. They prate of a tidal wave of prosperity that is not expected on their own showing to be lasting. We are to have, according to these heralds, a wave of such prosperity as the country has never witnessed before, and all interested are to make hay while the sun shines, for not being founded on rational economics there is no telling how long the wave may last.

The whole theory of tariff legislation is based on the alternate swell and subsidence of so-called prosperity. A wave, either in economics or physics, presupposes a depression elsewhere. Following the physical origin of a wave to its logical conclusion, it is the depression that causes the wave, and vice versa. Prosperity for the trusts and monopolies of the United States, which is the real aim of the tariff necromancers, presupposes depression among other classes, principally consumers and the labor element.

Based on robbery, which differs in degree only and not in kind from the piracy of the middleages or the brigandage of modern frontier life, this kind of prosperity always runs its course when an aroused public sentiment considers it time to call a halt. Whatever of real prosperity is in store for the people of the United States in the near future will be a tardy surmounting of obstacles thrown in the way of natural recuperation from hard times by the tariff tinkers. It is to be profoundly hoped that such real prosperity, whose welcome appearance will need no heralds or exploiters, will come to remain with us and not to sweep over the nation with ephemeral touch.

Oscillation from the heights of artificial prosperity to the depths of extreme depression constitutes the most hurtful of experiences for the body politic. Steady growth without these alternate extremes is the only sign of genuine prosperity, and such growth is the nation's assured destiny when the tariff jugglers are suppressed for good.—Chicago Chronicle.

TO BUNKO THE PEOPLE.

The "Sound Money" Scheme of the Republicans.

The great cry of the republican party during the campaign was for "sound money." It declared that the question should be placed beyond controversy. It had dallied for month after month with other questions, and has finally been checkmated in this attempt to enact a parliamentary fraud upon the people. All this, too, in view of the fact that the money question is regarded as the greatest which has come before the country in its century of existence. Even after adjournment of congress, Secretary Gage, speaking for the republican party and as the head of the treasury bureau of the government, declared that the tariff issue was infinitesimal beside the demand for money reform. Notwithstanding this declaration, which is but an echo of what the people have already declared, the country is doomed to a fresh period of disappointment. The doctor who begs to be called to the side of the sick patient and then fails to apply the remedy is a wretch indeed, but what is he compared to that great doctor of political ills who went before the country on a series of false promises and who is unable to redeem a single one of them?

The people of the United States are too intelligent to be further bunked by such transparent schemes, and they know now, if they did not know it before, that the republican party is but the creature of corporations, trusts and rings, which have no other purpose but the destruction of personal liberty and the robbery of their substance.—Atlanta Constitution.

POINTS AND OPINIONS.

—Isn't it odd that Mark Hanna hasn't claimed the Klondike gold strike as a logical outcome of McKinley's election?—St. Louis Republic.

—The man with a small salary and a large family, to whom the return of prosperity bringeth only higher prices for the things he buyeth, may rejoice that he holdeth his job.—Chicago Tribune (Rep.).

—Consumers now required to pay higher prices for the tariff-taxed necessities of life are beginning to realize that it costs money to see the elephant, especially the pachyderm of the g. o. p. variety.—St. Louis Republic.

—Mark Hanna is quoted as saying some time ago that "no man in public office owes the public anything." In so far as Mr. Hanna has any power in the matter, he has seen that the public gets nothing, except the worst of it.—Binghamton (N. Y.) Leader.

—The revival of prosperity through the bounty of nature in this country and falling crops elsewhere comes despite restrictions on trade for the benefit of plutocrats. The "rake off" for the favored few provided for by the Dingley iniquity is merely a fly in the ointment of the country's content.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

—When the Dingley tariff was being made up Alabama iron manufacturers declared that they did not want any protection, because they could sell their product abroad without any. They have been shipping iron right along under the Wilson tariff to England and other countries of Europe and they can't figure to do so.—N. O. Picayune.

TESTS OF ARMOR CLOTH.

Steel Bullets Fall to Pierce Casimir Zegelen's Fabric.

Tests of the armor cloth invented by Casimir Zegelen were made with the United States army rifle at Fort Sheridan, Ill., the other day, under the direction of Col. Hall. They proved to the satisfaction of the watchers the impenetrable quality of the cloth.

The cloth tested is what is called the army-armor cloth, an inch and a half in thickness. A three-quarter-inch cloth having proved effectual in stopping lead bullets, the thicker sort was tried against the steel missiles from the Krag-Jorgensen, the official army rifle. The tests were made from 400, 300, 250 and 200 yards, and in no case was the cloth pierced through. At distances under 300 yards, however, the outer layer was penetrated and the bullets lodged against the inner layer. Besides the inventor and the officers of the fort, Father Andreas Spetz, Dr. L. C. Borland and Lieut. De Korwin Sarnecy, of the Austrian army, were present. The cloth was hung over the paper silhouette of a man, which forms the regular target, and picked shots of the fort, selected by Lieut. Hawley, fired at it in turn. The cloth was 16x24 inches in size. The regular distance for target practice with the Krag-Jorgensen is 800 yards, but to demonstrate the quality of the cloth the smaller ranges were employed. The regular rifle, whose steel bullets will penetrate at a distance of 800 yards through 22 inches of oak, was used. The first shots were fired from a distance of 400 yards and the bullets fastened themselves against the cloth without penetrating, something that has been hitherto unknown with a Krag-Jorgensen cartridge.

The results will be made the subject of an official report in a short time.

RENEWED HOPE FOR THE BLIND.

Foreign Physician Relieves a Trouble Hitherto Believed Incurable.

A very important discovery made by Dr. R. Deutschmann, of Hamburg, is just now much spoken of by physicians, particularly by specialists on the eye. It deals with the successful cure of a disease of the eye which but a short time ago was considered absolutely incurable, the so-called detaching or peeling of the retina, which sometimes follows a case of retinitis. This disease consists in the shrinkage of the aqueous humor, a watery, slightly salty fluid which lies between the cornea and the crystalline lens, with the greater part of its substance in front of the iris. If the quantity of this fluid is lessened to a certain extent the eyesight is absolutely destroyed, and the physicians can do nothing but pronounce the disease incurable. Now Prof. Deutschmann has succeeded in introducing into the diseased eye, says the Philadelphia Record, a sufficient amount of the aqueous humor taken from a live rabbit's eye to restore the lost sight. Several cases where this most delicate operation was successfully performed are on record, the one of a pursuer on one of the steamers of the Hamburg-American line being most interesting. This man, totally blind three years ago, was able to resume his former occupation, after undergoing the operation just described, and his sight is now as good as it was at any time in his life.

EPIDEMIC OF SUICIDES.

Alarming Increase in Their Number Among Men and Women of Paris.

There has been a veritable epidemic of suicide in Paris for some weeks past, the recent tropical heat adding to the number of cases. The tragedies commenced with self-destruction on July 7 last of the four young dreamers in the Poissonniere quarter of Paris, who suffocated themselves in a small room with the fumes of a charcoal stove after dining together. Since then, almost daily, one or more women have committed suicide, and the self-murder of men has been equally numerous. The bodies of men are found daily hanging to trees in the Bois de Vincennes. In one alley of that part alone six bodies of suicides were found during the past week, and the morgue is so full of dead bodies found in the river Seine that there is no further room for them.

Encouraging Statistics.

The Baltimore and Ohio officials are very much pleased with certain statistics that have recently been prepared of the performance of freight trains on the Second division, which handles all the east and west-bound traffic between Baltimore and Cumberland. Before the new freight engines were purchased, and the improvements made in the track in the way of straightening curves and reducing grades, the average number of cars to the train was 28 1/2. Now, with more powerful and modern motive power and a better track, the average is 40 cars per train, an increase of 41 per cent. The average east-bound movement per day for the first ten days of August was 1,123 loaded cars. On the Third division, Cumberland to Grafton, where there are grades of 125 feet to the mile, the engines used to haul 19 1/2 loads to the train. Now the average is 25 1/2 loads per train, an increase of 31 per cent. It would certainly appear that the money spent in improvements on the B. and O. is being amply justified, and that the cost of operation is being very materially reduced.

The Country's Needs.—"What this country needs," said the earnest citizen, "is more warships." "Yes," replied Senator Sorghum, reflectively, "and more consulsips."—Washington Star.

Do We Need Big Muscles?

By no means. Persons of Herculean build frequently possess a minimum of genuine vigor, and exhibit less endurance than very small people. Real vigor means the ability to digest and sleep well, and to perform a reasonable amount of daily physical and mental labor without unusual fatigue. It is because a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters enables the enfeebled dyspeptic to resume the allotted activity of every day life, as well as to participate without discomfort in its enjoyments, that it is such a preeminently useful medicine.

KIDNEY TROUBLES

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Also Backache.

I cannot speak too highly of Mrs. Pinkham's Medicine, for it has done so much for me. I have been a great sufferer from Kidney trouble, pains in muscles, joints, back and shoulders; feet would swell. I also had womb troubles and leucorrhoea. After using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Blood Purifier and Liver Pills, I felt like a new woman. My kidneys are now in perfect condition, and all my other troubles are cured.—Mrs. MASON PORTER, 324 Kauffman St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Backache.

My system was entirely run down, and I suffered with terrible backache in the small of my back and could hardly stand upright. I was more tired in the morning than on retiring at night. I had no appetite. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I have gained fifteen pounds, and I look better than I ever looked before. I shall recommend it to all my friends, as it certainly is a wonderful medicine.—Mrs. E. F. MORROW, 1043 Hopkins St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Kidney Trouble.

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I had suffered many years with kidney trouble. The pains in my back and shoulders were terrible. My menstruation became irregular, and I was troubled with leucorrhoea. I was growing very weak. I had been to many physicians but received no benefit. I began the use of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine, and the first bottle relieved the pain in my back and regulated the menses. It is the best kind of medicine that I have ever taken, for it relieved the pain so quickly and cured the disease.—Mrs. LILLIAN CHIFFIN, Box 77, St. Andrews Bay, Fla.
